U.S. Senators Endorse McLeod-Skinner for Congress

BEND, Ore.—Both U.S. Senators from Oregon announce today that they endorse Jamie McLeod-Skinner for election to the U.S. House of Representatives in the 2nd Congressional District. McLeod-Skinner, of Terrebonne, describes herself as a rural Democrat who will bring integrity, fair-mindedness and a passion for supporting rural Oregonians to Congress. She is running against Republican Greg Walden.

Senator Ron Wyden

"In my travels across Oregon, I hear regularly from residents throughout the 2nd Congressional District about the challenges they face getting access to quality healthcare, finding good-paying jobs, dealing with rising housing costs, and paying for college."

"These direct conversations are essential guides to my work in the Senate advocating and fighting for Oregon values. I'm impressed that Jamie McLeod-Skinner is using that same proven approach, driving 44,000 miles around the district and having similar conversations with Oregonians. Jamie understands the importance of listening to people and being accessible, which we need a lot more of in Washington, D.C., right now."

Senator Jeff Merkley

"In every corner of Oregon, working families care about the same basic things: reliable healthcare, strong public education, good living-wage jobs. It's no surprise that Jamie McLeod-Skinner is running to fight for the issues Oregonians care about, because she's based her campaign on talking and listening to the folks in her district. I'm proud to support Jamie, and I know she will do a fantastic job representing the concerns of rural Oregonians—concerns that unite us more than they divide us. The other side may have big money, but we have shoe leather, a Jeep, and a tireless candidate who's willing to go out into our communities and connect directly with the voters who will make the decision this November."

Jamie McLeod-Skinner

"I am proud to be endorsed by our senators. Voters in our district deserve a representative who shares the fundamental Oregon values of respect and compassion. What I hear from people all over our district is that most of us want the same things: the ability to keep our families healthy and to put food on the table. I will be a representative who will advocate for our families and communities."

The 2nd Congressional District spans nearly two-thirds of Oregon, including all 18 counties east of the Cascades, Jackson County and parts of Josephine County near Grants Pass.
